TEMPE PUBLIC LIBRARY'S ONE TEMPE ONE BOOK

Tempe Public Library completed our second annual community reading program, One Tempe One Book. Continuing with topics that every person will experience, the 2024 selection focused on death. Our city read was From Here to Eternity, a nonfiction book by mortician Caitlin Doughty about death customs around the world. We also had copies of They Both Die At The End for teen readers and Will My Cat Eat My Eyeballs? for young readers.

The library provided 19 programs for 144 attendees in the month of October for a variety of death related topics including organ donation, Ask an Embalmer, Victorian Mourning Customs, dealing with grief and more. Community partners throughout Tempe hosted stacks of free books and we were regularly asked to come back and refill the piles. 1,000 physical copies of the adult book, 200 copies of the teen book, and 300 copies of the children's book were given out over the course of a few weeks, disappearing in half the time of the previous year. The author of our main book provided us a free promotional video with 1.3k views on Instagram.

We gave out packets of marigold and forget-me-not seeds, worry stones, stress squeezers, and magnetic photo frames to provide folks with ways to celebrate folks in their lives who have died and to provide ways to help cope with their experiences of loss.

Death can be scary but it doesn't have to be. This kind of impact on our community will continue to resonate into the future and Tempe Public Library wants to continue the conversation. We're looking forward to expanding this program next October with a new topic and book selection.
